The rankings for European direct lending deals are compiled by three leading industry publications: 9fin, Debtwire, and Octus. Each publication has its specific criteria for evaluating large-cap senior direct lending transactions. For FY 2025, the thresholds for consideration were as follows: 9fin considered deals with €50M+ EBITDA or €250M+ deal size, Debtwire looked at transactions with >$50M EBITDA or >$200M of total debt, and Octus focused on deals exceeding €250M of total debt. We proactively submitted our European direct lending deals to all three publications on a quarterly basis throughout the fiscal year. The rankings were determined based on these submissions, with no compensation involved in the process. The final rankings were published by each respective publication according to their methodologies.

Hedge funds and other private investment funds (collectively, “Alternative Investments”) are subject to less regulation than other types of pooled investment vehicles such as mutual funds. Alternative Investments may impose significant fees, including incentive fees that are based upon a percentage of the realized and unrealized gains and an individual’s net returns may differ significantly from actual returns. Such fees may offset all or a significant portion of such Alternative Investment’s trading profits. Alternative Investments are not required to provide periodic pricing or valuation information. Investors may have limited rights with respect to their investments, including limited voting rights and participation in the management of such Alternative Investments.

Alternative Investments often engage in leverage and other investment practices that are extremely speculative and involve a high degree of risk. Such practices may increase the volatility of performance and the risk of investment loss, including the loss of the entire amount that is invested. There may be conflicts of interest relating to the Alternative Investment and its service providers, including Goldman Sachs and its affiliates. Similarly, interests in an Alternative Investment are highly illiquid and generally are not transferable without the consent of the sponsor, and applicable securities and tax laws will limit transfers.

Conflicts of Interest

There may be conflicts of interest relating to the Alternative Investment and its service providers, including Goldman Sachs and its affiliates. These activities and interests include potential multiple advisory, transactional and other interests in securities and instruments that may be purchased or sold by the Alternative Investment. These are considerations of which investors should be aware and additional information relating to these conflicts is set forth in the offering materials for the Alternative Investment.
