Notification of Source of Distributions

Pursuant to Rule 19a-1 under the Investment Company Act of 1940

The Goldman Sachs Nasdaq-100 Premium Income ETF (GPIQ) and the Goldman Sachs S&P 500 Premium Income ETF (GPIX) (collectively the “Funds”) declared a dividend of $0.45789 per share and $0.36904 per share, payable on October 7, 2025, to shareholders of record on October 1, 2025.

The Funds’ monthly distributions normally consist of net investment income and short-term capital gains. These are generally considered ordinary income for federal tax purposes. Because the Fund seeks to provide monthly distributions at a relatively stable rate, shareholders may receive distributions in excess of taxable income which constitute a return of capital for tax purposes.

As noted in the table provided below, the Funds made distributions during the fiscal year for which a portion is estimated to be in excess of the Funds’ taxable income. As of September 30, 2025, the estimated sources of these distributions were as follows:

Funds	Ordinary Income	Return of Capital
Goldman Sachs Nasdaq-100 Premium Income ETF	3.9%	96.1%
Goldman Sachs S&P 500 Premium Income ETF	10.5%	89.5%

The ultimate composition of these distributions may vary from the estimates provided above due to a variety of factors including future income and expenses and realized gains and losses from the purchase and sale of securities and other investments.
